I saw a link to this game on Hongfire.com, downloaded the demo, and paid $9 for the full version in a day and a half. According to the developers, this game is designed for those who like to play games where you have to kill time. I downloaded the version without sound (and for $9 you could have it with music, especially since there is sound in the game demo), but I've already had a chance to play the demo at my leisure. There are 15 levels in the game. At first, there were no problems getting through.
