(Aug. 2) WASHINGTON - As Trump campaign manager Paul Manafort leaves the lockup he called "the jail of torture," a new leader emerges. The man who accompanied Manafort on his $1 million bail package back to the luxury villa and yacht that served as his home and offices until he gave up those to the government is former Trump lawyer John Dowd. Dowd, who was associated with Trump's campaign for only three months, is now in charge of the legal team representing Manafort. Dowd's hiring and dismissal were announced Wednesday by Dow

What's new in Daldos:

në Daldosnë is a town and municipality located in the Zagori Sub-region, northern Albania. The name of the town is probably derived from the Albanian name for the "Sweet water" Daldos, meaning naturally sweet water or spring or mountain spring. Description The municipality of Daldosnë is in the Orikullesh region, in the municipality of Këlcyrë.

The place name of Daldosnë means 'quartern', and the common belief is that Daldos is the Albanian word for the hardest stone, most likely hard slate, volcanic rocks. The climate of the place is very diverse, the summer weather being mild with average temperature around 30 °C (86 °F), and winter average temperature around 0 °C (32 °F).

Daldosnë is one of the youngest towns in the Zagorian municipalities, having been established around 1962 with the objective to develop the economy of the area. The Municipality's new administrative building was constructed with modern technologies, such as built-in heating systems and equipped with state-of-the-art computers in modern offices. The rocky mountains are virtually all around Daldos, with the highest peak being Devrel. Under any conditions one may be sure of a pleasant summer; and in the winters snow could fall in the days leading up to and on the first of each month. The Daldos River flows through the mid-west border, stopping in Daldosnë. This river was named after Pandi Drita, the the famous Albanian poet. Historical population The municipality of Daldosnë consists of 2 districts and 4 towns. The population at the last census in 2011 it was:

Districts: Daldos, Këlcyrë, Zubova, Zatun Daldosnë Municipality, in addition to the town of Daldosnë, has 7 villages and districts: Këlcyrë (population 104, Çakovec) Zubova (population 124, Kichak) Dalforë (population 24, Mramor) Papusha (population 38, Mullakova) Haprez Tsret (population 15, Gjoka) Uzmek (population 16, Bajrami) Joj (population 13, Drekalie)

> Q: Underscore.js _.template undefined and _.pug undefined I get Undefined when accessing underscore. console.log(this.id +

'undefined'); console.log(this._id + 'undefined');
console.log(_.template('id') + 'undefined');

console.log(_.template('id') + 'undefined'); i am getting Undefined when accessing underscore template functions.

this.id returns Undefined. this.id returns correct value set to attribute. this.id returns correct value set to attribute. this._id returns correct value set to attribute. this.id.toString() returns 'id'. _.template('id') returns correct value set to attribute.

UPDATE i was using node.js. Which along with underscore.js require json module and dont find any other answers as module according to doc this is default require('./lib/underscore/template.js') A: Update: Based on your update, this doesn't answer your question, but it might be helpful. Since you're using Underscore.js, I assume you're using RequireJS (by "require," I don't mean "require.js," although they look that way).

If you're using RequireJS, please enable the option "exclude: ["json"]" in your config.js file. This does what you want.
