XSEED are currently at PAX East 2016 and the staff there have not been too shy about our project. One of their major announcements came from the fairly new CEO (CEO in a more historical sense) of XSEED Games, Mark Nelson. In a recent interview at PAX with Destructoid, Mark confirms that his team is going to be working on the third episode in the series, and going to offer a bit of backstory to how Tarnished's crew came to be adventurers in the first place.Tarnished Tales is a tale told in fragments, of a witch who married an immortal. A dark tale follows their descendants.A note on Tarnished here because it is really heavy going. This is the part people are going to either love or hate. Literally. It goes straight into painstakingly detailed explanations of the plot and most of the sidequests. Don't get me wrong, it's a great read, and I would probably recommend it to some people. But it's going to take quite a bit to read, and if you don't like reading, read something else.Or you could just watch the preview... A quest for vengeance leads two people to discover their destiny. A dark quest, of a very strange source. Mark is also going to be there to talk to people. If you want to chat to him, show him some of your artwork, or anything else, come and find Mark at the XSEED booth from Thursday-Sunday. This one, though.....BUT I am going to be going to XSEED's booth. Seriously, not kidding. Also, I'm super busy this weekend, so be careful when you see me. And don't say anything. I did a bunch of stuff with this in the past, but I don't think much of it was getting enough visibility, so I'm going to do something a little different here. I'm not going to show off anything in-game, I'm just going to show off stuff I worked on. During a certain point in the development cycle for the game, I had to first fix some pathfinding bugs. Since I can't show any of that, and since my skills at pathfinding aren't exactly good, I want to show you what I did to fix the bugs in the meanwhile. This is the wireframe: And this is the actual one, after the fix: While I was in the bff6bb2d33

The Americans trailed by 21 points at the half but outscored the Spaniards, 25-3, to win 99-82. "Obviously, this is a big, important win for us," said point guard Candace Parker, who finished with a game-high 20 points to go with seven rebounds. "Today was a lesson for us. We played better than we did in the semis (last week), and we won the game. It was good for us to get past the first game today." Alabama's Courtney Rowe, the daughter of WNBA center Sheryl Swoopes, and Angel McFarland, the daughter of former NBA point guard and current assistant coach Brian McPherson, paced the team in the victory. Rowe led all scorers with 18 points and McFarland recorded a double-double with 13 points and 10 rebounds. "I really couldn't ask for much more," said McFarland. "Everyone in the lineup was contributing. As a team we really turned it on in the second half, and we delivered. Our defense stepped up and that's what we needed.
