Illinois State Museum Announces Pops up in Springfield Friday, April 26, 2018 SUNY
Oswego's Arts District Association will partner with the Illinois State Museum to bring it's "Pops-up" food market to Springfield on Saturday, May 4th from 12:00 PM - 4:00 PM. This outdoor market features local artists, musicians, food and drink vendors, and fun for the whole family. By transforming the temporary and unique context of the outdoor space into a multi-use public space the venue serves as a potential solution to multiple challenges facing Springfield, including the loss of the historic F.J. Meyer factory buildings and the need to provide economic development support for the area. It is hoped this collaboration will strengthen the tie between the city and its arts, cultural and industrial districts. Pops up will be located between 12th and 13th Streets. Attendees can purchase a variety of locally sourced food, beverage and arts products while sampling delicious fare. Pops-up Springfield will be brought to life by dozens of local food vendors (think locally sourced food, arts, crafts, art, wine, beer, beverages and more!), musicians, artisans, and urban planners from the Illinois State University and region. A range of activities, including: educational tours, art demonstrations, street art, theatrical performances, and extended release open mic opportunities are planned for attendees.
