When I try to save a domain type I get a org.hibernate.MappingException: Property mapping " cannot be done because of the following reason: Cannot map property via 'Column (?)' (type: 'System.Int32' identity_column: 'GUID' not nullable: 0) I'm not sure why this is occurring. Here's the code I've got public class ActiveAccount

{ public virtual Guid Id { get; set; } public virtual string UserId { get; set; } public virtual int Reputation { get; set; } public virtual ActiveDomainType UserType { get; set; } public virtual IList FavoriteTypes { get; set; } } public class ActiveDomainType { public virtual Guid Id { get; set; } public virtual string Name { get; set; } public virtual List Values { get; set; } } I'm just not sure why it would map on the Id column instead of the Name column. Is there a parameter I can pass in to the Mapping method that would indicate that the Id column is the unique identifier? A: If you're using version 2.0 or later, you can use this constructor: public ActiveAccount(Func idGenerator) :
        base(idGenerator) { }
