Persistent Changing World

The game engine is "Game Engine 4" as found in the "Elden Ring 4" series. It is an in-development brand-new system that greatly increases the scope of its gameplay. Areas have the property of being persistent, meaning they are continuously changing from one moment to the next. There are no map markers that point to a certain area, nor are there specific paths that lead a player to the location. The same locations may appear in different layouts at different times, all with their own unique properties. This allows us to create a vast, open world full of individual puzzles and secrets. The game will take on elements of role-playing and give a static environment, but the combination of class-based play and a dynamic world make things both entertaining and fun. There will also be events such as interactive encounters, a bottomless sea of dungeons, and enormous monsters that will be regularly appearing and changing for a variety of reasons. Players can freely explore the game world, and since the area of each area is previously determined, the focus is on creating puzzles that will challenge the player through interaction with it. As part of this, many of the locations that appear can be freely selected, so that players can freely decide to head to a certain location or travel somewhere else. The variety of game content will also be expanded by its occurrence and events near locations.

* New Team Members

In addition to the traditional youkai and exorcist classes, we will be introducing an exceptionally weak class called "Tarnished" to provide support in battle and “From the beginning, I absolutely fell in love with the deep and innovative world. The free, open-world landscape quickly awakened my heart. The combat was challenging, the special skills that I could develop deep and interesting. Simply put, Elden Ring Activation Code is exactly what I love about RPGs.” “I’m a huge fan of the style of gameplay that this game embodies. There are so many different attacks, skills, and ways to play that any kind of strategy becomes a great deal of fun.” “The challenging class system provides just the right amount of pressure. It is extremely rewarding to progress from class to class, as you begin to unlock new skills and find the best combination of weapons and items. The combat is fast-paced and simply fun, and I was immediately impressed with the game’s beautiful presentation. The art style is reminiscent of the dungeons of Legend of Zelda, but is actually quite unique in its own right.” “The open-world aspect is a large draw for me, as it separates me from the small world of town, and gives me the chance to explore. The battle system is incredibly rewarding, and I was immediately hooked. I really enjoyed exploring the beautiful open world. The various dungeons that you explore provide a nice break from this world, and are a great opportunity to keep you busy with a much more difficult game. It feels like the perfect RPG experience, giving the player both open-world exploration and dungeon crawling with a challenge that changes through the four classes.” “An excellent combination of exploration, combat, and content, with a story that keeps you coming back for more.” “Despite the game’s age, it still remains highly playable in terms of its difficulty. In addition, the variety in its genre is enough to hold your interest, and its six classes offer unique gameplay experiences.” “While I only played the game for a very short time, I was immediately impressed with the freedom and gameplay that this game offers. It felt more like the game I love about the open world.” “The easy AI makes your job a lot easier. You can’t play it like a real-time strategy game, but you don’t have to think about your decisions or your own success very much.” TRY IT FREE •

Q: HTML container with image background I'm trying to get a HTML container with image as background. My HTML code: And CSS: #container { background-image:url('images/container-bg.png'); height:100%; } My problem is that the img tag is breaking the background, what am I missing? A: You will have to use a div instead of a div for the container, since the background image is only taken into account when using the element with the background-image property. If you want to use a div as container with an image behind, you can use transparent image and set a background position, like this: HTML: CSS: #container { background-image:url('image.png'); height:100%; background-position:0 0; } As an illustration: A: The background-image property applies to the background color, not the background image, so you will have to place the image inside of the #container. #container { height:100%; background-image:url('images/container-bg.png'); background-position:center; } But if you want this to work over the full height of #container, then you will need to set 100%
