ing is when soldiers from one region jump over others and claim their territory. It originally started during the time of the Second Spanish American War. During the first Spanish American War, Spain and the United States fought almost a thirty year war. The fighting started before 1900 and the actual war started in April of 1846, but the end didn't come until 1898 and 1900. Since the fighting for land and resources extended so long, one thing started to happen. Nationalism was a growing force in the U.S. many people felt that with their nationalistic feelings, they could help their people by establishing their own countries. During the Spanish American war, this was called jingoism. The Irish were also part of this movement. The Irish were one of the largest groups of immigrants in the U.S. during the 1800's. The Irish often wanted their own country. Some of the Irish emigrated because they wanted a new and different life. Other Irish emigrated from the poverty in the Ireland. The U.S. was growing, and the South claimed that the land that the Irish came from was the Irish land. In the South, farmers who claimed that the land belonged to them. This wouldn't make the Irish happy because, the Irish land was on the east coast. It was also the middle of the 1800s. Science was getting more advanced, and there were more products being mass produced. You no longer had to do everything by hand. It was time for a new country to be established. The point of all of this was that James J. Hill showed that you could get a package from the Midwest to the west coast within a week. J.J. Hill contacted George Pullman in 1881, and asked him to place his sleeper car on an existing railroad. This was the George Pullman Company. James J. Hill was President of the George Pullman Company. The Irish were against the Pullman Company and wanted to stop the company from using their flat car passenger bed. The company wanted to mass produce the flat car bed and make money from the passengers. This is very similar to “Jump The Train” which is when a girl jumps over the driver in order to steal the car. Many of the people in the Irish community knew each other and fought on each other. The people at the time were in the dark on how to change the view of the flat bed and make the North American rail companies use it. Jumping over the

Don't blame us for warming the world up a bit. All we asked for was a second chance at being a truly majestic people, and the Gaami were kind enough to give us that. We took our chance, and carved out an empire that we're still going strong in over 2,000 years later. The last time we ventured out onto the ice, we left behind us a war-torn Earth, and the Gaami came to our aid. They gave us the Polaris, and the hope that the human race would still be able to flourish after we were gone. In their eyes, we were meant to be saved, as we had shown that we could survive the constant conflict of the Old World. So they provided the Polaris with gifts, and took us into the night to become their very own tribe. We have wandered this planet for over a millennium, building cities and towns, and developing new scientific discoveries, all the while under the watchful eye of our Gaami overlords. Ever eager to expand our understanding of this new world, we have also left our mark on the Earth; we have torn open the oceans, and destroyed mountains and forests, and fueled countless wars. But we're here to change all of that. We're here to reverse all of that destruction, and help you rise up against those who seek to bring it all down. For the end of this vicious cycle will be nothing more than a bleak, post-apocalyptic life. Will you join us and go into exile? Or will you plunge the Earth into a new ice age? Your ideal. Your vision. Your destiny. Polaris is, itself, a dream version of the Square. The people in Polaris are chosen from the Square and, like the populace of any other nation, they put their hope in their leaders. They have a King, a Goddess, and an Islander. What would the Square look like if it existed in a dream version of the real world? What would its society be like if the reality were radically

From naming your people, changing their traits, designing your own myth, and more, we've gathered a catalogue of everything that makes up the Polaris.
