* Photoshop Elements: Developed as an entry-level image-editing tool for photographers, the tutorials on the web are somewhat simpler than those found in Photoshop because the learning curve is steeper. However, the basic style of editing is the same as in Photoshop. * GIMP: The GNU Image Manipulation Program is a free, open source, cross-platform digital imaging and graphics program. GIMP is popular because it's free and open source; however, it doesn't support the same number of features as Adobe's program. Also, it doesn't have the same reputation for stability and reliability. ## Using Photoshop Photoshop is a powerful program that, if you're a beginner, will likely be intimidating. After you learn a few basic techniques, however, you'll see that the program is only as difficult as you make it.

McConnell, speaking at the Heritage Foundation, said the Kentucky senatorial campaign, the first in the nation, to make Kentucky the last state to require a government-issued photo ID to vote would be a top priority this year. He said the group, the American Legislative Exchange Council, would have "a good shot" of getting such a law passed in Kentucky and other Republican-dominated states before the November elections. "We're in a very important election year for the people in Kentucky, and we're going to look for every opportunity to make it harder for people to vote," he said. Democrats had earlier started taking aim at the Kentucky campaign, which, McConnell said, was held last week. They say he

Thursday, November 10, 2010 Black Friday/Cyber Monday Sofa Remodel Have you all been shopping online lately? My local store did a sale last week and I went crazy with it. Not for anything but just to say "I've been there" =) I've got a project I'm running around in my mind now though, sort of an update to my thrift store kitchen that I'll be working on during the next weekend. The challenge will be to build some high backed but cheapish redecorating around the beautiful, antique, red maple kitchen that the owners didn't like. Oh well, that happens sometimes! A few weeks ago, I posted about the awesome sofa I scored at Big Lots. Well I finally got a chance to do it last week. For $90. Crazy, crazy deal. I just love the contrast between the rough wood and the bare vinyl upholstery. I tried to stain it and could only get it to darken. There was also a stain on it that I was trying to get off. The other two chairs are by Peter Dunham ($140) and a vaguely matching pair for $60. I still need to reupholster the chairs and add a cushion. But the former owners had busted up the seats while trying to move them. They also had a table that went along with it. They could not move that because it was bolted in place. So the kids and I went in to try our luck. While we were at the store, the owner walked in and said "I was looking for the marble table for our house. It's a thing of beauty." So, not quite sure how I ended up with a gorgeous mahogany dining room table AND matching legs to go with it. I'd love to get photos of the kitchen, if you have any to spare! I can just tell, there's some great vintage goodies in there... I love the way your chairs turned out! I love that sofa! I just don't think I could pull it off. I'm saving up for a dining room chair that I love. I have the designs in my mind but still haven't managed to get out of my own way to get one! I want to keep saving though for once it gets to a point I'm ready I'm going to go hog wild. I can't find one I want at any price but I have a few ideas for it once it does get
