clive im waiting for my check of all the latest 1us over the last 15 years. see if any have been moved from the original 2us to a single 1u. if so, maybe they arrived then. even if the 1u was not available yet, new 1u kits will be coming down the pipe right now. maybe the same. i remember using their hobby stuff with a 1u to make a simple audio receiver from an old radio. so im now wondering when the ks.com redesign was done. the new boards are smaller than the old ones even though the assembly is a bit longer. this could be a first because ks previously only built the longer ones. clive i remember that board back in like 2002-2005 that was made by kirlax. it had the loopback diplexer and sdr front end. i used to use it back then to get japanese tv onto an old theoretical radio. i would have to buy the radio because the one i had wasn't powerful enough. any idea where i can find those? [4] jay like you i would prefer the usa pull itself out of the eu and out of nato and just go it alone. im sure that would be enough to make the eu nervous. i would also like to see the usa not supply the arms to either russia or china if not for any other reason, so that we could have a chance to speak for ourselves. i wonder if those missiles were actually israeli made and shipped to iran? if so, the israelis probably saw an opportunity to take the upper hand with the usa, both in their back yard (which is now with iran,) and in iran, with which the israelis are also at war. to the envy of most americans, the israelis are honest to a fault. im also sure that if this was in question, israeli intelligence could be cited to prove it. however, the volume of intelligence traffic between the usa and the eu, especially during the cold war, was enough to prove the existence of missile shipments. the usa has been more than happy to sell arms to the soviets and chinese, at least before they fell out. now they are too weak to even pretend that they care who exactly the recipients are. it is all about the dollars and the industrial base for the purpose of military power.
