following a gunman named Carruthers, played by Oliver Reed, shooting Bond from his luxury yacht in the Caribbean, Bond parachutes into a remote area outside Antibes, France. A week later, it is revealed that Carruthers is a double-agent working for the South American branch of the Russian Mir-Kulayev crime syndicate, who has plans to sell stolen industrial diamonds. Bond meets his second 'girlfriend' Tatiana Romanova played by Ursula Andress who he first met in Dr. No. The two spend time in a French hotel, and Romanov's fiancée is bought by a Russian named Sir Hugo Drax who steals the diamonds. It's time to relax, Bond heads to his favourite location, Jamaica. Dr. Kananga, played by the Mexican actor Emilio Fernández is a former ally of the British who turned against them and became the leader of an organisation called the Kananga Cartel. The organisation plans to destroy the oil industry in the Caribbean, and he sends two henchmen, Chang and Mei Ling, played by the Taiwanese actors Chang Chen and Cheung Kit, to kill Bond. After being brought back from the dead, Bond and Tatiana first meet in Istanbul in a Turkish restaurant in which M informs him that he needs to meet up with the Bolivian-Mexican double-agent Sanchez. Bond goes to meet the man in a cafe where he realises that he is in the presence of another former partner, Emilio Largo, played by Yul Brynner. He captures Bond and captures the woman, Sanchez, but she manages to escape and make her way to a Spanish aerodrome in which a mysterious woman arrives in a plane and leaves. Bond is captured by Sanchez who is the friend of Largo and who turns out to be a member of the evil Spectre led by Ernst Stavro Blofeld, played by Peter Graves.
