National Museum of the American Indian in Washington, D.C.Kraft Real Estate Group's President Speaks About the Salesforce Commerce Cloud Kraft Real Estate Group is a leading boutique real estate firm with offices in the Midwest. In recent years, the company has spent more than $40 million upgrading its technology systems. Recently, Kraft made the decision to move to the Salesforce Commerce Cloud in addition to its on-premise CRM solution. Mark Gliniewicz, president of Kraft Real Estate Group, spoke with CRM Buyer about his company's experience and the future of cloud computing. What is Kraft Real Estate Group's software usage? GLINEWICZ: Salesforce Commerce Cloud is our preferred CRM. It provides end-to-end CRM services for sales, marketing and service teams. How much does Kraft Real Estate Group spend on marketing software? GLINEWICZ: Kraft and its partners spend about $60 million annually on sales, marketing and service software. Our primary CRM solution is about 80% on premise, with the remainder in the cloud. Our CRM usage is growing at about 25% a year. What does Kraft Real Estate Group expect from its cloud usage? GLINEWICZ: The cloud gives us the flexibility to scale and easily adopt new applications as our needs change. We also enjoy the cost savings associated with having a cloud-based solution, which is very important
