Facebook Top Fans Generator is an application created to analyze your Facebook profile and the Timeline in order to tell you which of your friends has given you the most likes and comments. Easy to link to your Facebook account In order to be able to use the application, you first have to provide your account credentials, name and password, so that Facebook Top Fans Generator can connect to your profile in order to extract the data it needs. It's a very simple and straightforward process and it even allows you to add multiple accounts. Create top fans images The application allows you to generate the top not only from your main profile page, but also from other pages you have or are the administrator of. You are able to set a number of winners and tell the application how many posts to look into. Since the top is generated based on a score, for a single like or comment you can set how many points to award. Facebook Top Fans Generator creates an image with the people that have the most points. You get to view their names, number of likes, comments and shares, as well as their score. As far as customization for the frame goes, the application automatically adds the profile pictures of the winners but you can change them, you're allowed to add a custom title to the top, change the foreground and background colors, adjust opacity and text alignment. Upload the result to Facebook It goes without saying that Facebook Top Fans Generator enables you to post the results on the Facebook page that has been analyzed and you can also save the results on your computer as an image. The entire process of creating the top fans chart can take a couple of seconds or minutes depending on the number of participants and posts you set to analyze. A fun tool for Facebook users So, with the above to consider, Facebook Top Fans Generator is by all means a really good app to have around if you're a frequent Facebook user who likes these kinds of posts. moment but I'm looking for something to replace my web browser. I only need to check my Facebook and Twitter accounts but I want to do more. Especially more than just browsing. If the browser is not only for Facebook and Twitter I'll consider it. I'm looking for a feature rich browser not just because I like the feature. I like the page preview feature and I like the bookmarking feature. I have been using Firefox for a couple of years but it is slow to boot up and slow on web pages. Chrome and even IE for that matter are fast. I would like something that is not only fast to start but also fast to load web pages. I would like to stay away from Linux, I use it for other things but for that I can do things like use the fastboot feature of my Samsung Nexus 7. When I get my phone back and I install Facebook I would like to not have to use the browser that the phone comes with but I need something that allows me to browse to sites like Facebook and Twitter.
