I'd like to submit the cure for battery life problems adobe has been encountering..) I've been using the new Lightroom 5.2 for a while now, and my LR5 machine is dead solid no matter what I do. leave it on over night, or during the day, but never for more than 2 hours. Has anyone else found this to be an issue? I use LR 5.2 on 5.1 and immediately noticed a huge improvement. Currently, there is nothing worse than having to shut down for battery. :o( I recently purchased the Adobe Master Collection upgrade on my iPad, but would like to know if there is anyway to integrate Google Drive Photo Stream? Also, is there a way to move photo streams off the iPad? (to Google Photos) Thank you!

Dave F. Can someone help me! I use Photoshop 7 most of the time but need to fill out some forms online and upload some stuff. Unfortunately, Photoshop can't connect to the internet and I can't install any other app that can either because they both require the internet. I have a mobile wifi data plan that shows 3G data connection available but it isn't making any difference. Should I call my ISP and have the phone cut off? I have a landline connection, so I can leave it on, but again, not really beneficial if I am not there. If someone has any recommendations on how I can fill out forms around the internet, I would appreciate it.

Thank you! This is a great review! I use creative cloud 2015 and the video is fantastic! It's easy to navigate and the overall look and feel is nice! I do however have one question, with regards to saving changes in the sky. We're working on a cruise video and every time I save a change in the sky I lose a bit. I believe it's because I have more than one layer and I save as a JPEG with no compression. Is there a way to change the file type to compress and keep my changes? Thanks!
